0.Resources and Services Management in Heterogeneous Information and Telecommunication Environment

1. State registration: 0109U001584
2. Head prof. Globa L.S.

Results

The technology of access and management of information and program resources in heterogeneous informative-telecommunication environment is created. It is the basis of intermediate layer software for access and performance of the distributed program systems in networks, which use technologies both cable and wireless access.

The mathematical models of parallel transaction processing of the uniform universal platform for supporting to information interaction of granting service in Internet are developed…...

Back